

Marion Heymans

Marion Heymans, MSc
Zuyderland
The Netherlands
m.heyman@zuyderland.nl
0031 6 1307 3056

My professional background

I currently work as coordinator and policy advisor of the Knowledge- & InformationCentre in Zuyderland, a hospital in the south of the Netherlands. Since the 1990s I work in medical libraries and have participated in several national working groups. I support scientific researchers in medical and nursing disciplines, train systematic literature searching and EBM for librarians, health professionals and students. I graduated from the master Evidence Based Practice.

EAHIL

My first EAHIL meeting was in Utrecht (1998), for only one day. Since then I actively attended several EAHIL meetings. In Cluj (2006) with a presentation, in Lisbon (2010) and Brussels (2012) with a CEC, and in Rome (2014) with a poster presentation. During these meetings I experienced how stimulating it is to meet colleagues from European countries and to share ideas and experiences within the EAHIL network. If elected for the EAHIL board, I would like to be an connecting link for this internationally cooperation and the continuing professional development for medical information specialists. I want to contribute for Open Access and Evidence Based Medicine specially.